

Permanent Makeup

Permanent cosmetics are a tattooing process by which natural pigments are inserted into the skin, reducing or eliminating the need to apply makeup. They may be sought for convenience, to improve a facial feature's shape, or as a solution for those with allergies who can't wear makeup.

The procedures are uncomplicated, and most can be done in an hour, requiring only topical anesthetic.

Eyeliner and lips are two of the most popular areas of the face to benefit from permanent makeup. Think of it... wake up in the morning, play a game of tennis, go swimming and emerge looking fresh without the worries of running makeup or other cosmetic mishaps

The lips may be outlined with tiny dots of pigment to create a fuller appearance, define the border, alter the shape, or disguise scars around the mouth. The overall color of the lips may also be enhanced with pigments ranging from natural to bright tones.

The tattooing process is also used to create permanent eyeliner at the base of the eyelashes. To achieve this effect, thousands of tiny sites along the lash line are implanted with a dark pigment. This will enhance the appearance of the eye without the hassle of makeup. Both men and women can benefit from this technique, especially those with blonde lashes.

Save time and effort with the ultimate convenience of this procedure. Permanent liner for eyes and lips won't wear off or wash away. Be your best day or night with a look that's always soft and natural. You'll love the convenience of not having to apply eye liner, lip liner or eyebrow pencil.
